Sunshine, Diet, Thought Some Dreams Come True Thomas Hastings Mr. Hoover's Tasks

By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1929, King Features Synd., Inc.

MISS MARY GARDEN, still very young, returns to America weighing only 116 pounds. Her prescription is "diet, thinking and sunshine."

The diet is meagre, hardly enough for a few canary birds. Sunshine, abundant; thinking, doubtless, very deep.

To weigh 116 pounds is not important. But if all of us imitated Mary Garden, ate less and thought more civilization would progress rapidly.

Children dream great deeds, youth plans them, accumulating years and dullness abandon them, with most of us. But occasionally a start for immortality or death is made.

Alexander, with his handful of men, plunges into Persia. Columbus starts across the ocean, although they tell him he will "fall off the edge." Peary starts for the North Pole. Stanley enters unknown Africa. Lindbergh lands in Paris.

The latest adventure is that of Ditman, young Montana cattleman, starting alone in a tiny monoplane on a trip from America to London, with gas enough to last 27 hours.

Win or lose, the adventure is worth while, for a good example stirs ambition in others. The odds may be 1000 to 1 against success, but the odds are fair. It is 10,000 times better to live, having done something, than to exist having done nothing.

The death of Thomas Hastings, most distinguished of American architects, is a great loss to his profession and a loss inexpressible to his friends.

Many enduring monuments, testifying to his ability, include the great Public Library in New York and the Memorial Amphitheater in Arlington Cemetery, where the Unknown Soldier lies.

In addition to inborn ability, Thomas Hastings possessed the ability to work hard and think ahead. Often as a young man, pointing to the old reservoir on Fifth ave. in New York, he said to friends: "They will tear that down some day, and build a library after a public competition. I intend to win that competition because I am working at it now."

The public competition came 20 years later and he did win it and he built the library.

Happy and useful in life, his works survive and honor him.

President Hoover, with professional delight in a fine engineering work, praises the all-year-round navigation development of the Ohio river, now completed.

That development of the Ohio river is a beginning of many similar projects that need attention.

How many will President Hoover put through?

No man ever had greater opportunity or better equipment for using it.

The Gulf of Mexico should be connected with the Great Lakes via the Mississippi, the lakes with the Atlantic ocean, by canals suited to ocean-going ships.

Discussions as to "All-American or partly American," and other canal technicalities should not delay action.

Engineers might yet be discussing the choice of a sea level or lock canal at Panama, or the comparative advantage of Panama and Nicaragua.

Roosevelt, brushing all that aside, went ahead and BUILT THE CANAL. Building is what counts.

Japanese gardeners, able to control the growth of trees, will show you a gnarled cedar, 100 years old, no taller than a small geranium.

Dr. Nogushi, fellow student but no relation of the late famous scientist of the Rockefeller Institute, arrives from Brazil saying that he can do with human beings what his fellow countrymen have done with trees.

"Electrical nutrition and glandular control, plus the use of violet rays, can keep a child from growing or increase its growth prodigiously."

Also it is possible, says the learned Japanese, to change an Indian to a Negro, or a Japanese to a Caucasian.

Many wonderful things will be done, problems of insanity and eretinism will be solved, and the great army of morons abolished when science understands control of the mysterious ductless glands.

A French wine grower of Lyons, Henri Tarvanon, tired of life, jumped into a huge cask half full of wine.

He died, as did, according to legend, the Duke of Clarence, who, sentenced and allowed to select his own death, chose to be drowned in a butt of Malmsey.

Many American customers of bootleggers are travelling toward death in a somewhat similar fashion, committing suicide, a bottle at a time, but surely.

Hollywood Film Blast Causes Millions Loss

PANIC AVERTED; STOCKS REBOUND

MANY NOTED FILMS LOST BY BLAST

One Dead, Three Hurt, 50 Escape as Fire Wrecks Hollywood Laboratory

Hollywood, Calif., Oct. 24—One man was killed and motion picture films, the value of which will probably run into millions of dollars, were lost in an explosion and fire that destroyed the laboratory of the Consolidated Film Industries here early today.

Fifty persons working in the building ran to safety after the first explosion. Five minutes later there was a second detonation which shot flames through windows and doors, the laboratory workers escaping by a narrow margin. Three persons were injured.

In the confusion while firemen battled the flames several persons were reported missing but a check of those known to have been in the building accounted for all but one. Firemen later removed Albert Land from the wreckage. He died on the way to the hospital.

Due to the fact that the master films of several new motion picture productions were in the building, it was impossible to get an accurate estimate of the damage pending a survey by producers.

Early estimates of the loss ran as high as $50,000,000, but fire department and film company officials said initial estimates probably would be greatly reduced, as some of th celluloids apparently had

WIFE FLEES FOR HER LIFE FROM HOTEL

Chloroformed in Bed, She Escapes From the Room and Notifies Police

An attempt to murder his bride of four months with chloroform in their room in a Boston hotel, following a midnight supper there, was made by Charles J. Culkin, 29, of New York, ex-convict, according to the Boston police.

The bride, Anna Culkin, is recovering from her trying experience, at the home of an aunt at 132 West Newton st.

In the municipal court today Judge John Parmenter granted a warrant charging Culkin with attempting to murder his wife at 2 a. m. yesterday.

He was held in $15,000 bail. The case was continued to October 31.

According to Special Officers Philip Dodge and Lawrence McNamara of Back Bay police station, Culkin, who made a sensational escape from State prison, Windsor, Vt., in 1924, where he was awaiting trial on a grand larceny charge, poured chloroform on a towel which he put over his wife's face while she slept at the hotel.

At the home of her aunt in West Newton st., Mrs. Culkin said:

"We were married at Portland, Me., June 28 by the city clerk. My husband told me he had lots of money and worked as a salesman

TEN MILLION SHARES SOLD UP TO 1.30; FLOOR TRADERS SWAMPED

New York, Oct. 24 (AP)—A stock market panic appeared to have been checked early this afternoon as leading bankers issued reassurances and prices of many stocks, after declining $10 to $40 a share, rebounded sharply.

United States Steel common after dropping 19.50 a share to $194.50, more than regained its loss, selling at 1.30 at $206. Johns Manville, which had dropped $40 to $140, 25 points after tumbling $21 to $201, jumped to $175. American Telephone came back to $288.

It was only at prices were telephoned from the floor of the Exchange to members' offices that traders had any conception of what was going on on the floor of the Stock Exchange. Before 2 p. m. the quotations on the ticker tape were more than 2 hours behind the transactions on the floor.

The following table illustrates the extent of the early declines, and the recovery of prices as phoned from the floor at 1.30 p. m.

LIVERMORE A BUYER

Jesse L. Livermore, colorful stock market operator, who is reported to have made and lost several fortunes, told newspapermen he had been a heavy buyer of stocks all during the morning. Mr. Livermore has in late years been observed by the huge market operations of such men as Arthur W. Cutten of Chicago and William C. Durant, but his name has been prominent, be mentioned in Wall St. gossip during the recent severe "bear" drive. Mr. Livermore, however, denied he had headed a "bear" pool.

Total sales on the New York Stock Exchange up to 1:30 p. m. were 10,171,900 shares, breaking all records and comparing with a turnover of 8,246,140 shares for the full session of the previous record day, March 26, last.

The situation was so acute in the early afternoon that a report was sent out over private wires that the stock market would be closed at 1 o'clock, but this was later denied by the New York Stock Exchange, which announced just before 1 o'clock that no call had been issued for a meeting of the board of governors to take action.

MEETING OF BANKERS.

A hasty meeting of leading bankers was convened at the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co., shortly after noon, including Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City Bank, and A. H. Wiggin, chairman of the Chase National Bank.

Bankers continued to congregate at the low, formidable appearing granite stone offices of J. P. Morgan & Co.

At the corner of Broad and Wall sts., directly across the street from the Stock Exchange, W. C. Potter, president of the Guaranty Trust Company, soon joined the group. The bankers assembled represented the heads of the largest public and private banking institutions in the United States, and had under their supervision totalling many billions.

Thomas W. Lamont emerged from the bankers' conference at the Morgan office early this afternoon and said that, in so far as the bankers had been able to learn, no financial houses were in difficulty.

"So far as we can find there are no houses in financial difficulty and reports from brokerage

Roars, Fury on Stock Exchange

New York, Oct. 24 (AP)—A heavy roar that echoed through Broad Street and Wall Street, drowning the chimes of Trinity Church, marked the beginning today in the history of the New York Stock Exchange.

The thirty-five hundred men on the floor of the Exchange needed a dozen traffic police.

A surging, screaming, disheveled crowd pushed and fought their way back and forth through the lanes separating the new horseshoe trading posts as messengers and traders tried to keep abreast of the flood of orders.

The galleries were tightly wedged with visitors from the opening gong. Guards were instructed to put all pass holders on a ten-minute schedule in order to accommodate the crowd.

"They ought to have their old clothes on for a job like that," was the comment of one gallery visitor.

New Hope for Cowboy Flier; No Wreck Seen

The fate of Urban F. Ditman, Jr., flying cowboy, remained uncertain today after a report that wreckage of his transatlantic plane had been picked up at sea turned out to be groundless.

There remained his faint hope that the aviator-cowpuncher, who attempted to fly solo to Europe, in a little monoplane might have landed at some remote spot either in Greenland or Ireland.

When the report came of a message saying that wreckage of a plane, painted black and orange, had been discovered in North Atlantic waters by an unidentified vessel, it was believed he had died in his death in the sea.

The report was that the Cunard liner Scythia, west bound for Boston and New York, had intercepted a radio message from the unidentified vessel, and had relayed it to the Newfoundland Government steamship Kyle, which craft was purported to have flashed it to Harbor Grace, N. F.

A few hours after the report the Newfoundland management of the Kyle denied the boat ever received such a message or sent it out.

It was thought the report originated from a code radio message sent out by the Scythia, declaring no trace of the plane to have been seen.

Ditman's trim little plane, a low-wing, five-cylinder Baring monoplane, had a black fuselage and yellow wings.

There still exists the faint hope also that Ditman may have been picked up by some ship not equipped with radio.

However, in the event that he was forced to land on the water, it would be necessary to save him quickly. At the mercy of the sea, his frail craft, weighing less than

TRIES TO KILL ITALY'S PRINCE

Brussels, Belgium, Oct. 24 (AP)—Crown Prince Humbert of Italy, affianced husband of Princess Marie Jose, narrowly escaped death today at the hands of an assassin who fired a shot at the royal suitor as the prince was placing a wreath on the tomb of the unknown soldier.

The quick work of one of the Italian embassy party, who knocked down the assassin's arm, seized the gun and overpowered him, is believed to have saved the prince's life.

The assassin, who escaped lynching through the protection of the police, later told the authorities he was an Italian, named Enrico di Rosa, and that he had intended to fire in the air as a protest.

The young prince, whose engage-

Lobby's Tariff Costs $504,000,000 a Year

Washington, Oct. 24—Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, today estimated increased rates proposed in the tariff bill would "impose a burden on the consumers of Pennsylvania of from $2,786,000,000 to $3,290,000,000."

This, he added, represented an increase of $504,000,000 annually. Joseph R. Grundy, president of the Manufacturers' Association, the man who raised $700,000 for the Coolidge campaign in 1924, who was testifying at the time, remarked it was "important if true."

Grundy told of raising $1,000,000 in Pennsylvania for the Hoover campaign fund last year.

"Do you think you got higher tariff rates?" asked Chairman Caraway.

"Overcoming a natural modesty, I would say, I helped," the witness answered.

"Who pays your expenses?" continued the chairman.

"Who?" asked Grundy in surprise. "Why, I do."

"You came here to see that the campaign contributors got their money's worth?" pursued Caraway.

"I came here to see that the Republican platform which was indorsed by the mandate of the people was enacted into law," he shot back.

"If it was, then they got their money's worth," pursued Caraway. "I wouldn't say you laid down on the job."

Grundy estimated his expenses at about $25,000 since the first of the year.

He described his occupation as a manufacturer.

He said he had been in Washington almost constantly whenever there was a tariff bill pending from the time of the Dingley measure in 1897.

"How many times have you been investigated for lobbying?" Caraway asked.

"I don't think ever."

Caraway inquired if he was investigated by a Senate campaign funds committee and he recalled he was questioned in 1924 by the Reed committee.

Grundy said he raised more than $700,000 for the Colidge campaign in 1924 while he was chairman of the Pennsylvania Republican committee on ways and means.

"Are you worried about the tariff bill?" Caraway asked.

"We don't count our chickens un-

Hoover Train in Peril in Bold Auto Plot

New Albany, Ind., Oct. 24 (AP)—An alleged plot which would have involved President Hoover's special train in a wreck with a heavy sedan five miles north of here was thwarted last night by three men, who removed the obstruction from the Baltimore & Ohio tracks about an hour before the train arrived.

The train was halted for 18 minutes while secret service men and railroad detectives started an investigation which resulted several hours later in the arrest of two negroes who confessed, according to officers, that they placed the automobile in the tracks in a plot to collect damages for its destruction.

The sedan was placed on the tracks on a steep grade, and was discovered by Enoch Keller, a negro, who had gone to the crossing in the hope of seeing the President as his train passed.

Keller called Edward Hopson, a farmer, and the two, with the assistance of a motorist, George Weir of Jeffersonville, Ind., removed the machine.

The Hoover Special, however, was stopped.

NICHOLS NAMES BOTTOMLY

Robert J. Bottomly, former secretary of the Good Government Association, was appointed by Mayor Nichols today as Boston's representative on the newly created Metropolitan District Transit Commission.

The board of trustees is to be made up of five members. Governor Allen had already appointed four. The fifth was left to Mayor Nichols to appoint.

Mr. Bottomly's appointment is for a two-year terms. The board will serve without compensation.

This act has not been accepted by the City Council and a strenuous fight is in the offing over section 8, which vests in the new commission all rights, titles, etc., in Boston's $53,000,000 worth of subways and tunnels to be operated as state property. The act is considered by many members of the City Council as another slap at Boston home rule.

til they are hatched," said Grundy.

"Are there others down here, doing what you are?" he answered there were.

"Give us the names," Caraway went on. "How about Mr. Burgess?"

"Yes, Mr. Burgess. Also Mr. Paubel."

Caraway asked: "Why did you come down here?"

"Expecting that I have prepared a statement," Grundy answered.

But the committee declined to hear the prepared statement, permitting him to file it with the clerk.

SEES NO DEMOCRATS

Grundy testified he could not recall how many members of the House he saw.

"All that I thought it desirable to see and who I thought would be helpful."

He added he saw no Democrats. Senator Walsh insisted that Grundy name the senators he visited, but he could not recall.

"Well, I'll have to look down the list," remarked Walsh.

Senator Sheppard, Senator Edge, Reed, Hetfield and Fess, Grundy said. Most of those from the industrial east, he added.

"Why did you see them?" he was asked.

With respect to entering on the Republican party platform, he answered:

Grundy recalled he had been a delegate to the Republican national convention in Kansas City, and after the convention was asked by the Republican national committee to help in Pennsylvania and "I devoted all my time to that."

He said in the eastern section of the state more than $800,000 was raised for the Republican campaign last year. He estimated that more than $800,000 was raised in the state by a committee of which he was a member.

Before Grundy took the stand Frederic J. Mosher, general counsel concerning the tariff on flax.

His appearance was unexpected, as it had been believed the day would be given over to Grundy.

Meisnest, who left the tariff commission last May, became an assistant to the vice-president of the Atlantic Coast Fisheries Corporation, testified he had been in the fishing industry before going to the commission.

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, asked him to explain his departure from the government service.

"I considered the government service a stepping stone," Meisnest answered.

HE OPPOSES COOLEY

Asked on what occasions he was here, Meisnest replied he was here frequently. He opposed the work of Edward Cooley, who is a paid lobbyist."

"What are you?" inquired Chairman Caraway.

"I am an employe. I am not a lobbyist."

"Aren't you paid?" continued Caraway.

"Yes."

"Who pays him?"

"The Massachusetts Fisheries Association."

Meisnest with some emphasis related that "I told Cooley to his face if he would speak to the facts he wouldn't have a leg to stand on."

"What did he say?"

"He said, 'Then you are asking me a fact?' I told him he could consider it that way."

Meisnest said he kept track of Cooley through a system. He added he had talked to Frederic I. Fenn, son of the Connecticut Manufacturers' Association, who assisted Senator Hale, Republican, Connecticut, in framing the tariff bill.

"Did Cooley show you what Cooley had prepared for him?"

"Yes. He showed me the contentions of Cooley for maintenance of the fish duty."

Meisnest said his expenses were paid while he was here, and his account was submitted. He did not recall his total expenses, but estimated them at about $45 a day.

He added that the concensus of the conference had been that many quotations "did not set forth the situation fairly because of the numerous air pockets found in many stocks where there were not many sales.

Asked whether he thought the Federal Reserve Board would take any action, Mr. Lamont replied he did not know, but thought some consideration might be given.

Mr. Lamont's position in the situation which arose on the floor late Wednesday afternoon and today more in the nature of a technical situation than a fundamental one," said Mr. Lamont in referring to the bankers' conference.

There was no overnight export business to stimulate the trade, and Liverpool quotations were lower than anticipated, depressed by large offerings of Argentine wheat.

October wheat dropped 9¼ to $1.28; Nov., 8½ cents to $1.29; Dec., 11½ to $1.27, and May, 13 cents to $1.32.

REPORTS FOUR MILLION CUT IN SHIP EXPENSES

Shipping Board Head Files Report in Answer to Criticism

Washington, Oct. 24—Expenses of the government's merchant fleet corporation have been slashed and precautions are being made to protect the government's interest in the sale of ships, T. V. O'Connor, president of the corporation, has reported to the Shipping Board.

His report was accepted as a reply to the recent statement by Comptroller-General McCarl to Congress that the fleet corporation had been miserably managed.

Only $5,000,000 will be required to administer the affairs of the corporation during the next fiscal year, compared with $10,000,000 this year, O'Connor said.

The payroll has been cut 20 per cent during the last 12 months, not including the sale of the United States Lines or the insurance agency, which, when included, will produce a 35 per cent slash in personnel for the year, he said.

Operations of the insurance department have increased, due to inclusion of outside vessels, bringing the amount of insurance written to about $50,000,00 said the report.

Ship operations have diminished, due to sale of ships. On the remaining lines an increase in revenue per voyage and lower expenses have caused much controversy, O'Connor said:

SLAYER'S WIFE TELLS WHY HE SLEW FATHER

Says He Was Always Drunk and All in the House Were Afraid of Him

Newfane, Vt., Oct. 24—Between bouts of weeping, Mrs. Sadie Kent, wife of George Kent, 42-year-old farmer charged with murdering his 75-year-old father, testified at the trial today that the old man was "always drunk and a body couldn't argue with him."

All in the house were afraid of the older Kent when he was under the influence of liquor, the woman declared.

He got his liquor, she said, at Penn's, but never had to go after it himself. "They fetched it to him," she explained.

Mrs. Kent, after finishing her testimony, took a seat among the spectators and wept continually during the rest of the session.

for a New York sporting goods store.

"We went to Bermuda on our honeymoon and while there he blackened both my eyes. I intended to leave him, but he said he would be good so I stayed with him.

"On Tuesday evening we had dinner in Boston after coming here from Keene, N. H. Then we went to a Tremont st. motion picture theater. Then we took a taxi and rode around town. At Cornhill he told me of a plan he had made to chloroform me and kill himself. He showed me a gun which I have since learned was a toy pistol.

"He got out of the taxi and brought some bullets. During the ride he bought a pint of liquor from the driver. We went back to the theater after visiting five or six drugstores until we finally bought a can of chloroform.

"On returning to the hotel he ordered a planked steak sent to the room. He told me he had written letters to his brothers and sisters. Then he wrote a note in which he said I was willing to die with him and was afraid to be buried with him. He made me sign the note. I don't know why I signed it except that I was afraid of him.

GAVE HER CHLOROFORM

"He made me sit in the big morris chair in the room and then he showed me the can which he said contained chloroform. He punched holes in it with a corkscrew and then soaked his handkerchief in it. He held the handkerchief over my nose. Soon I began to feel numb.

"He held one hand before the eyes and one on the back of my neck. I could feel myself lapsing into unconsciousness. Then he wet the kerchief again with chloroform.

"I heard him call 'Annie, Annie,' and I could feel him opening my eyelids with his fingers.

"If wet the kerchief again and some of the chloroform got in my eyes and I pushed his hands away. I felt him pick me up and lay me on the bed. After he had left there he said 'Annie, oh, Annie, I can't go through with this.' He laid down beside me and pressed the pistol to my heart. I became unconscious and awoke at 6 a. m. He was asleep so I put on my clothes and left the hotel."

SWUNG AXE AT POLICE

The aunt reported the matter to the police, who located Culkin at the home of Raymond J. Duffey, 17 Levant st, Dorchester. Duffey is a nephew of Mrs. Culkin.

When Officers Dodge and McNamara went into the Duffey home, Culkin fled to the cellar and arming himself with an axe swung it freely at them. They kept him at bay until Special Officers Arthur Blood and John Stackpole arrived, when he was overpowered, arrested and removed to Back Bay station for booking.

According to the police, Culkin threatened to kill Duffey a few hours after attempting to kill his bride. Duffey struggled with him and took away a revolver and cartridges, which he threw down a manhole.

According to the police Mrs. Culkin says she was married to the ex-convict, who has also served time in New York jails, seven months ago. She told the police she had $1500 and a $300 Liberty bond when she married him, which he has since spent.

She also told the police he tried to compel her to change her insurance policy to make him beneficiary in place of her niece and threatened to kill her if she didn't. She says he first threatened her two weeks after marriage.

En Route With President Hoover to Washington, Oct. 24 (UP)—Fewer battleships and more stern warships.

BOUND FOR WASHINGTON

Having consummated the policy in the middle west, President Hoover was en route back to Washington today to recommend to Congress in December a far-reaching policy of inland waterways development. He hopes to erect economic barriers through the London naval conference to carry out a program of Mississippi valley improvement which will cost $300,000,000 annually.

"It will cost," said the President, "one-half one battleship. If we are as fortunate as to save this annual outlay of naval construction in the form of a successful outcome of the naval conference in London nothing could be a finer example of the conversion of swords into ploughshares."

Messenger boys fought their way in and out and voices of bourse announcers added to the din. This unprecedented condition continued throughout the entire day of the market.

ment to the Belgian princess was formally announced today, was one of the calmest in the crowd. He continued the wreath-placing ceremony while bands played Italian anthems, later returning to the Italian embassy, where he is stopping.

SAVED FROM LYNCHING

Despite stringent precautions taken by the police to prevent any unpleasant incident at the ceremony, the youthful anti-Fascist was hiss way to a point near the Prince's car, firing the shot when he was about 15 yards away.

As he prepared to fire a second shot his hand was knocked down and he was disarmed. The police succeeded in protecting him from the infuriated crowd bent on lynching him and took him to headquarters for questioning.

The official account of the Brussels chief of police of the attempt on the crown prince of Italy, said the assailant leaped from the crowd, ran a few steps and fired once.

He apparently desired to continue firing, but the report of the shot two detectives ran toward him and felled him. They were assisted by a plain clothes policeman, who was mistaken a short time for an accomplice.

The man's revolver was found to contain several unused cartridges. It was a modern nickel-plated weapon. The bullet fired by the assailant has not been recovered.

The arrested man was stated to be Fernando di Pesa, born at Milan October, 9, 1908, domiciled in Turin and now living in Paris, where he is a law student at the university.

Di Rosa arrived in Brussels from Paris yesterday, using a French passport in his own name and a Swiss passport in another. He was stated to have informed the police that he had come from Paris expressly to shoot the Crown Prince. He is not known to the Belgian police.

The assailant was taken to the Palace of Justice suffering from minor injuries he received when arrested. It took 10 policemen to hold him as he struggled.

"DEATH," CRIES CROWD

After he had been taken to the Palace of Justice a large crowd gathered outside shouting, "A mort l'assassin! A mort."

Burgomaster Max, famous chief of the Brussels municipality, went to the Italian embassy to convey to the ambassador the deep sympathy of the population of Brussels with the Crown Prince after the attempt on his life.

He requested the ambassador to inform the prince of the profound esteem in which he was held by the citizens and their congratulations on his escape.

The ambassador thanked Burgomaster Max for his expression of feeling and acknowledged the prompt and effective intervention of the police.

When the King and Queen and the Belgian Princess later questioned Prince Humbert about the incident, smiling, and apparently not the least upset, he replied:

"Perhaps if my parents had not chosen the date of the anniversary of their marriage, I might have had less luck. All's well that ends well, and I have myself informed my mother that nothing happened to her son."

Rome Puts Shooting Up to Anti-Fascists

Pope Pius, when informed of the attempted assassination, said he was glad the prince had escaped and he was sorry such an event had happened to cloud the happiness of the youthful royal couple.

The attempt was attributed here to resentment of anti-Fascists in Brussels against condemnations and execution recently at Pola of Vladimir Gorian, Jugoslavian "terrorist," He is not known to the Belgian police.

OLDEST FERRY IN U. S. GIVES WAY TO WORLD'S NEWEST BRIDGE

R. I. OPENS $4,000,000 SPAN

Mt. Hope Bay Crossed by Project Which Vice-President Puts Into Use

Bristol, R. I., Oct. 24—The oldest ferry in the United States gave way to the newest bridge in the world today.

When Vice-President Charles Curtis pressed a button on his desk at Washington exactly at noon, thousands of persons from all over the country saw the consummation of the $4,000,000 project as Boston was brought 30 minutes near Newport.

Gov. Norman S. Case, United States Senator Otis Glenn of Illinois, State Senator William H. Vanderbilt and Dr. William H. P. Faunce, president emeritus of Brown University, were among notables attending. Congressman Clark Burdick, of Newport, read the message of President Hoover, voicing the congratulations of the nation's chief executive.

And while all these ceremonies were going on above, a lumbering ferry-boat in the stream below was forcing across the bay on its last trip. The service had been in continuous operation since 1680.

Washington, Lafayette and Rochambeau had found it handy.

IS MASSIVE STRUCTURE.

The old vessel, if it could see, looked up at a structure 6130 feet long, with a main span of 1200 feet. Into its superstructure had gone 17,000,000 pounds of steel, including a 150-foot girder, the longest ever fabricated.

The caissons on which the bridge is built are 54 feet below the water and the two main towers soar 285 feet in height. The main roadway is capable of handling 3000 vehicles an hour.

Six workmen lost their lives in the construction.

Band concerts at each end of the huge structure were started at 10:30 a. m. to amuse motorists who had begun to arrive shortly after sunrise.

Half an hour later a parade under the direction of Gen. H. Callan, marshal, left the Bristol courthouse and marched to the Roger Williams pier on the bridge. At the same time the official party left Newport and proceeded to the John Clarke pier.

HISTORIC PAGEANT.

The two processions were provided with tableaux, devised by the Newport and Rhode Island Historical Societies. Oscar Stetson of Barrington represented Roger Williams and the Rev. William Nelson of Newport assumed the role of John Clarke. Other famous men in Rhode Island history were depicted by members of the present generation of the original families.

The modern representatives of Williams and Clarke exchanged compact copies of the charters of Providence and Portsmouth in the center of the bridge.

Surrounded by Rhode Island citizens at his desk in Washington, Vice-President Curtis touched a button which sounded a siren on the bridge. Simultaneously a salute of 21 guns began to boom.

Down in the bay the U. S. S. Dallas rolled gently at anchor as a governmental gesture of approval. Overhead, Clarence Chamberlain, the first air pilot to carry a passenger across the Atlantic, circled in his plane.

INDIANS TAKE PART.

Roger Williams and John Clarke untied the national flag at each of the two huge piers in the center while the 13th Infantry band played the "Star Spangled Banner."

The Indians who were invited to the ceremonies then inducted Governor Case and Senator Vandebilt into the Algonquin Indian council.

The senator, who presided over the exercises, introduced President Emeritus Faunce of Brown University, who delivered the invocation.

The certification of the bridge was then consummated by Dr. D. B. Steinman, consulting engineer for the Mt. Hope Bridge Company.

Following the acceptance of the bridge by Douglas R. Coleman, president of the company, Governor Case delivered the principal address.

Senator Glenn of Illinois and Herbert W. Smith, vice-president of the bridge company, then spoke.

GIRLS CUT TIES.

The bridge was formally opened to the public when Miss Marian Irene Smith of Newport christened the structure. The final gesture of the structure's completion was made by the Misses Rita Barbara Callan of Bristol and Nancy Weaver Thompson of Newport, who cut the ribbons at either end of the bridge, allowing traffic to pass.

As the first machines began to roll over the bridge, 1000 balloons soared into the air, released by officials of the Newport Chamber of Commerce. Inside 25 of the gas-filled bags were special tags, announcing to finders they would be given books of toll tickets.

Residents of this state who could not attend the ceremonies were able to listen to the speeches over the radio from station WEAN.

Nellie Ross to Form Party Women's Arm

Washington, Oct. 24 (AP)—Nellie Taylor Ross, former governor of Wyoming, has very decided opinions on the talk she came to Washington to begin today—organizing women's activities at Democratic national headquarters.

She had christened the subject of her endeavor "the women's arm of the Democratic party" because she refuses to call it a "women's division" or a "women's organization" or a "women's auxiliary."

She does not argue women's equality in the political field, but women's indispensability.

"Such an organization as I have in mind implies women working another to shoulder with men, and in no sense 'auxiliary,'" said Mrs. Ross. "Women and men bring different assets into the field of politics. Any question of their relative importance is like the old saying to the cat 'What need have I of thee.'

"However, women may profit by the political experience of their husbands and brothers, and many will take their counsel and advice, since men have had charge of the government since its organization."

Mrs. Caroline political leaders must not only show a disposition to receive, they must court the participation of women.

"The importance of an element in the electorate that supplies 50 per cent of the vote cannot be minimized."

It is to that element, Mrs. Ross refers when she says "the women's arm."

FALL CASE IN JURY'S HANDS

Washington, Oct. 24 (AP)—The case of Fall bribery case today began its instructions on whether the acceptance of the liberties in the Harding Administration accepted a bribe of attorney Edward L. Doheny for a $100,000 loan of $100,000 to Fall.

Later the jury was recalled to the court room by Justice Hitz at the request of counsel that the charge be repeated.

WORLD TARIFF TRUCE PARLEY AT GENEVA

Geneva, Oct. 24 (AP)—The opening of an international "tariff truce" held the spotlight today when the League of Nations committee on economic activities met to consider means of putting into effect certain proposals of the 10th assembly session.

An American business man, Lucius Eastman, of New York, is here to take part in the deliberations.

The committee's task is to devise methods for operating the five-fold program adopted by the assembly in its campaign to remove obstacles to trade, obtain economic disarmament and establish international economic cooperation.

The league's plan may be outlined thus:

The first stage is an invitation to all nations, both within and without the league, to intimate before Dec. 31 next, if they are disposed to take part in a diplomatic conference with a view to concluding a tariff truce.

The second stage is that the council of the League shall decide on the basis of replies received whether the diplomatic conference is to be held. The suggested time is early next year.

The third stage is the diplomatic conference itself.

The fourth stage consists of negotiations between states signing the truce and might last two or three years.

The fifth stage is the final diplomatic instrument to take note of the results of the negotiations.

Democracy a 'Hot Air Balloon,' Says Shaw

London, Oct. 24 (INS)—Declaring that Abraham Lincoln's perversion of government of the people, for the people and by the people was not a correct description of democracy, George Bernard Shaw has engendered a spirited discussion on the subject by a radio address in which he launched an attack on the popular conceptions of present-day government.

"Talking about democracy," Shaw said, "is like talking about the sea. Some people love it; some people hate it. Democracy, like the sea exists, but we might as well try and abolish it as abolish the sea.

"Democracy as we see it now is like a big balloon filled with gas or hot air which is sent up to keep people amused, while the pockets of people pass their pockets," he added.

Every five years, sometimes less sometimes more, the balloon comes down and we are invited to take a seat in the basket but the balloon goes up again with much the same lot in it and leaves us very much as we were before."

In regard to Lincoln's aphorism, he said:

"Government 'of the people' is necessary," he said. "Government for the people is most important. Government by the people is quite another matter.

"To those who would ask, 'Why should not the people make their own laws?' I reply, 'Why should not the people make their own plays?' Simply because they cannot."

The only can do nothing politically intelligently without a competent leader.

"We have been brought up as citizens. We must set to work to bring up our children to be better citizens than we are. We are not doing it."

PEOPLE'S ARMY DRIVEN BACK IN CHINA

Hankow, Oct. 24 (AP)—Continuous but indecisive fighting between the Nationalist forces and the rebellious Kuomintchun or "People's Army" was in progress today throughout that portion of Honan Province west of the Kinhan railway.

The opposing armies appeared to be facing each other along a north and south front, 50 miles west of the railway, whereas two days ago the former on east to west line. The present battle line extends north from the border of Hupeh Province to the Lunghai railway near Chengchow.

At their nearest point the Kuomintchun forces still were more than 100 miles from Hankow, their apparent objective. The shifting of the battle line resulted when the right wing of the Nationalist forces advanced northward along the Kinhan railway, driving the rebels from the railroad zone, while the left wing of the Central Government forces withdrew toward the southeast, permitting the "People's Army" to reach the Hupeh border.

The Kuomintchun army now is advancing eastward in three columns, hoping to regain railway territory.

Berlin, Oct. 24 (AP)—Transfer of mail bags in the air from mail planes to planes ascending to meet them at way stations is the newest development of the Lufthansa.

Experiments at Tempelhofer airfield have been most successful, the mail being dropped and picked up by means of a hanging cable with a fork-like hook attachment.

The cable is designed to break easily if caught, thereby preventing a crash. It is thought the device also will be used on Zeppelins.

KIDNAPED BOY SENT HOME FOR $25,000

Detroit, Oct. 24 (AP)—John Thompson, 5, who was kidnaped from in front of his home Sept. 30 was today returned unharmed to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Thompson.

Police said Thompson paid $25,000 in marked money for his son's release.

Two men and two women are being held in connection with the kidnaping. They are: James Fernando, 30; his wife, Anna, 25; Emil Louve, 25, and Mary Dagostino, 19. Louve and Fernando are charged in the kidnaping and the women are held for investigation.

Inspector Robert A. MacPherson, a member of the squad which returned Jackie to his home, said Thompson had been in communication with the kidnapers for the last three weeks, or practically since his son was kidnaped. The police said they took no steps until today for fear some harm might befall the boy.

The ransom finally was reduced to the $25,000 which Thompson paid over last night.

SKIMMED MILK BATTLE RAGES IN SENATE

Washington, Oct. 24 (AP)—Two great divisions of American economics, industry and agriculture stood face to face in the Senate today in their first conflict arising from the rate schedules of the pending tariff bill.

At the center of the controversy lay the duty to be imposed on casein, a product of the farm which finds its consumer in the industrial field. Officially classified as a chemical, it was the first agricultural item to be taken up by the Senate in its consideration of tariff rates.

The House continued the present duty of 2½ cents per pound, but the Senate committee proposed that it be increased to 5½ cents.

Farm organizations contended that the latter figure was too low and demanded a minimum tariff of 8 cents. They claimed that under the present rate, millions of pounds of dried skimmed milk, from which casein is extracted, are going to waste annually, because of the competition of foreign dairy interests.

The manufacturers of paper and books, who use the casein in finishing paper used in bookmaking, contend the imported commodity is of a much higher grade than that produced in America. Argentina is the principal competing country.

The basis of today's debate was a proposal by Senator Shortridge, Republican (Cal.), that the duty be increased to the 8-cent figure. Meanwhile, a movement was under way to effect a compromise at approximately 5 cents to avoid protracted debates.

SKYWAYS PILOT MAY SET NEW SPEED MARK

By GEORGE W. HAMBLEN

Speed records are in jeopardy this time at the Curtiss, Inc. that stops to fuel with the fastest fast ship. Although the flight, from the company's Mineola Mills flying field to the Boston Airport has not been completed finally as yet, it would seem that Hasket Derby had completed the time of Oliver Parmelee for the 40 odd miles distance.

Hasket Derby, Curtiss test pilot, wind-motored Challenger plane at Boston in either 27 or 28 minutes. If the Curtiss ship is found to be the joint holder of the record with Parmelee.

This would seem only but record-breaking performances are still with us, and even the old times are not safe from being shattered for something.

Let's wake the Boston Chapter of the National Aeronautic Association up a little bit, and some of its members to the sport scream. Mr. Lawson Defoe, Ted Hall, Mr. Adams and others of the old guard accounted for three times each with the exception of Defoe, who happen to have a trimmer, so they will be undisputed champs the route this fall.

O'BRIEN'S TIME

And we still maintain, in spite of the newspaper reports to the contrary, that Lt. O'Brien, Army pilot of Aviation, took off from Curtiss Field, new Roosevelt Long Island, N. Y., on December 11, 1926, in a 90 horsepower OX-5 powered Fleet Air, in 61 minutes, made 3 stops about 100 miles apart, and did in a transcontinental grind, the time was pushed.

However, Dan Hartman of the Transcript joined us on the statement the Curtiss Wright Corp. on October 11, 1926, was completed with O'Brien, and we stand by our paragraph.

There is another little item we might as well clear up once and for all now that we are on the flights of Lieut. Carlton Moffat in an Army Hisso Curtiss Hawk in 1926 from Boston to Mitchell Field, L. I. N. Y., and back, he only needed off to refuel in 55 minutes down and 45 minutes back. Plenty that on some occasions, and not so far future dimensions.

The 200 horsepower Curtiss, the way, is a ship for two passengers and pilot and it is not a sixteen-place plane.

Now we have straightened out all these little difficulties let's see what else is going on of the air port.

KENYON CO-PILOT

Another item, overlooked has been appointed by Richard W. Markle, division superintendent of Colonial Air Transport. This time it is none other than Ted Kenyon, ace plane pilot, airplane designer, inventor and president of the Kenyon Instrument Company of Cambridge.

Ted is flying on his own time, when he can, and when he can't, he says he hopes to have test pilot for the Kenyon flying fabric. His "Fabric" is the talk of the classes.

Amos Jewett, one of the best navigators of the Colonial fleet, is present a contribution to the company, from a flying field in New York, he is in with important but more as an incentive. And it seems a great future sport when we are going into the air. We will hear from him in the near future, on the subject.

Dick Williams, the pastor, has his jumper ready for the Ocean Derby to Revere, where the main passengers in Winter Seaplane flying boat, to make that 40 miles in 27 minutes. Here comes through with flying colors and a lot we are of him to win with a dean, to answer the million and one questions that go with the winning of the Department of Commerce.

The other evening week, visit of Carl Foster, chief pilot of Western Airways, was paid when he was in the Lounge and Bob McCandless dropped in with their Kinner engined American Eagle. Foster explained that he gets a great kick out of watching the development of the Boston airport and that he felt sure from Windsor would two weeks.

A certain roller at least the Pass Christmas? Not so long as roller flies somewhere and is responding to pilot's social signals on the runways of the airport.

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE scorns that ancient prejudice which harshly dictated that age was a limiting factor of usefulness. To-day, old age not only commands respect but demands its place in every walk of life.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so TOASTING—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

RHEUMATISM PAIN NEEDLESS

Relief in 7 to 10 minutes

I suffered with rheumatism in my shoulders and arms for quite a long time. Your MUSCLETONE was recommended to me as being the only remedy for this ailment. The first few applications relieved my pain. My son also used your MUSCLETONE for rheumatism in his legs and hands, and he is more than pleased with the results. We both cannot thank you enough for your remarkable remedy. We will never be without a bottle of it in our home.

MRS. CATHARINA LAUDESZKO, 500 Main street, Bridgeport, Conn.

I would advise anyone suffering with rheumatism to certainly use MUSCLETONE for this ailment. I am 78 years of age, and have used many different kinds of liniments, but nothing helped me as much as your MUSCLETONE. I endorse your remedy highly. The benefit from the use of your goods, and from now on I will always keep a bottle in my home.

MR. JOSEPH WALCHANK, 25 Pocahontas St., East River, Mass.

Do you honestly want complete and lasting relief from the pains of rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica or neuralgia? Science has proven these troubles needless. A new way has been found to end muscular agony and distress so amazingly speedy that it seems almost miraculous. Pain actually stops in 7 to 10 minutes and may be forgotten. Chronic cases and those unusually severe will of course require continued treatment for a while. This would be only natural. Yet often less than a single bottle is enough for complete relief even in most severe conditions of long standing.

This new discovery is known as MUSCLETONE. It was found by Dr. Chapin, a famous physician of New York. Now almost a million people have used the MUSCLETONE treatment. They learned of it entirely by word of mouth recommendation.

The amazing success of MUSCLETONE is due to the fact that it applies needed medication by means of inunction. It neutralizes accumulated toxins, absorbs them and relieves congested tissues. Pain goes. Joints become limber. Yet you take no violent drugs to upset the stomach. Nothing is taken internally. MUSCLETONE is applied directly to the part affected. Yet it is not a liniment, a "body-rub" nor a counter-irritant. It couldn't irritate a baby's skin, so bland and cool and soothing is it. It would seem that all old theories of ending rheumatism pains are now made obsolete.

We urge only that you make this test. MUSCLETONE is now obtainable at any drug store. Buy it today. Use one-half the bottle and if you are not amazed return the remaining half to the druggist and he will refund your money. The price is $1.03.

STATE LAWS TO ABOLISH HOME AS 'CASTLE'

Washington, Oct. 24 (UP)—The era in which an American's home was considered his castle appears to have passed and in 24 states, at least, chiefly as a result of state prohibition laws, the Federal constitution's pronouncement against search without reasonable cause has been set aside.

This was the consensus among the best lawyers in Congress today in commenting on the Supreme Court's action in refusing to intervene in the case of Roger Olmstead, where a prohibition violator was convicted on evidence obtained without a search warrant.

The men who write the nation's government laws were generally agreed upon five propositions.

The fourth amendment to the Federal constitution guarantees all citizens against unlawful invasion of their homes by Federal officers but not against similar invasions by state officers, functioning under state law.

Similar constitutional provisions in 24 state constitutions have been held by state supreme courts not to prohibit use of evidence obtained even though without warrants and in others common law permitting search without warrants "probable cause" or "reasonable grounds" has been invoked. Sixteen state supreme courts have held such evidence inadmissible.

The most startling book ever published on Prohibition!

A GIANT OF EVIL

From an Editorial by Arthur Brisbane

THE bootleg giant (shown in the Windsor McCay cartoon on the jacket of this book) is a REALITY, and the greatest force for evil that the world has ever produced. He has transformed great cities like Chicago and New York so that their police are powerless. Politicians take part of the bootleg profits.

A police commissioner in Chicago some years ago declared publicly that one-third of his police force was in the pay of the bootleggers.

The men that pass laws to enforce prohibition, WHICH CANNOT BE ENFORCED, are themselves drinkers of bootleg whisky and have their pet bootleggers. And some bring whisky with them from foreign countries.

* * *

Can you enforce a law that would change suddenly the habits of millions of people?

Can a well meaning minority force tens of millions to change a manner of living that goes back thousands of years?

The way to dispose of this monster is to undo the legislation that created it.

The most startling book ever published on Prohibition

READ Temperance — or Prohibition?

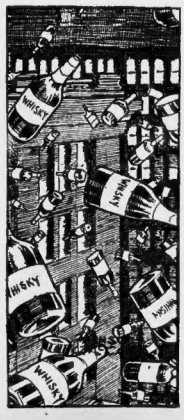
This remarkable volume presents, for the first time, an accurate and unbiased cross-section of national thought on the gravest situation facing America since the Civil War.

It is based on the enormous volume of 100,000,000 words of evidence contained in the 71,248 plans and statements received by the Hearst $25,000 Temperance Contest.

Fascinating as a novel, it is as accurate as a public document. It is impossible to understand the present prohibition situation in this country without reading this remarkable book, written, compiled and edited by Francis J. Tietsort, Editor of the Hearst Temperance Contest, aided by a staff of experts.

People of every age, of nearly every nation, of every religion, vocation and social rank have provided material for this astounding revelation of what America really thinks on the subject of Prohibition.

At Last the Truth—for All America to Read!



Authors, ambassadors, senators, governors, congressmen, judges, attorneys-general, army, navy and marine officers, bishops, bankers, housewives, teachers, manufacturers, priests, prohibition administrators—and bootleggers—all contributed facts and suggestions to this remarkable disclosure of how people of America consider Prohibition, and how they would cure this evil.

Full texts of the plans that won $33,000 awards are included. There is also a remarkable foreword by William Randolph Hearst, containing his statement on Prohibition, which is considered one of the most significant and powerful statements ever written on the subject.

If you want to know the facts—face the truth. This 400-page book finally and authoritatively reveals it.

You can purchase the book at the office of the Boston American, 5 Winthrop Square, Room 203, or simply use the coupon below, filled out with your name and address, enclose $1 and this remarkable volume will be mailed to you at once.

HUNT HUSBAND IN 5 DEATHS BY GAS

Hamilton, O., Oct. 24 (AP)—Charles King, Sr., a 36-year-old barber, was sought today to explain the deaths of his wife Sarah Ethel, 31, and four of their children and the probable fatal illness of another child.

Robert, 14, Lena, 12, and Ruth, five, were found dead from inhaling gas by neighbors who broke open the door of the unfurnished two-story house of the King family yesterday. Paul, 10, died in a hospital last night and his mother early today. It is feared Charles, 4, six, would not live.

King disappeared, leaving an enigmatic note which said three Coldwater (Ohio) men "caused me to do this." He did not explain the statement and the only inkling of a motive was the information that the barber owed money to one of the trio.

King had not returned to his barber shop since Saturday night. Yesterday neighbors smelled gas coming from his home and forced an entrance. The five children and their mother were found asphyxiated in beds. The top had been taken off a gas pipe. Coroner Edward C. Cook said he believed King removed the cap while his family slept.

In the family automobile the coroner found one of King's suits of clothes and a partly emptied bottle of liquor.

Police Probed in Shoplifting Ring

Los Angeles, Oct. 24 (AP)—Further investigation into the activities of the Los Angeles police in connection with the operations of a nationwide shoplifting ring were under way today by the district attorney's office, following revelations that this city has been used as a clearing house for goods stolen in every section of the country.

That the shoplifters loot was shipped here and disposed of under protection of police, was charged by Deputy Dist. Atty. Percy Hammond as the latest development of the probe into alleged police graft.

London Traffic Cops to Wear Red Lights

London, Oct. 24 (INS)—The policewoman London "Bobby" is to be equipped with a red light on its back when on traffic duty. Experiments have shown the red light is more easily seen than the customary white glove or armlet.

The innovation is expected to lessen the risk of motorists knocking down traffic officers.

Miners in Belgium Strike for Pensions

Brussels, Belgium, Oct. 24 (AP)—Miners throughout Belgium were on strike today as a demonstration for higher pensions and jobs for veterans.

Coal stocks, representing barely three weeks' output, had been further reduced by a Tuesday fringe of 10-day miners in the Borinage district last week, and the colliery owners said they intended using all workers for breaking their contracts.

Driver in Crash Dead at His Wheel

Providence, Oct. 24 (AP)—George H. Hooker, 52, of Plain st., was found dead at the wheel of a motor truck after the machine plunged into a heavy coming of traffic and collided with two other cars at Point and Plain sts. today. A policeman, who attended the truck to stop, saw the driver slumped over the wheel.

Bandits Rob and Kill 3 Bulgarian Judges

Vienna, Oct. 24 (AP)—Three members of the court of justice at Suchindol, Bulgaria, were shot and robbed by bandits under Chief Dotscho Uzunoff.

The bandits held up and robbed occupants of a number of motor cars, in one of which they recognized M. Kurtschew, president of the Suchindol Court; Public Prosecutor Maniew and Judge Tontschew. They promptly were stripped and shot.

The Bertha Is Especially Noticeable on Several Models Designed for This Season's Debutantes

(SKETCHED IN PARIS)

LUCIEN LELONG, has been very successful with his suits and coats, and shown herewith is one of the nicest of his new models for town wear. It is of a soft navy blue wool with a tiny dot, no more than a point, in gray silk thread.

Some Frocks Have It Embroidered or Beaded

Paris Bureau of the Boston Evening American

PARIS, France, Oct. 24—Big Bertha is again with us. Of course, we do not refer to the wartime variety, but rather to the frill on a bodice, that insists on being even more than a flounce and so insists on being known as Bertha. It is to be found on afternoon and evening frocks, and is sometimes beaded or embroidered.

There is something quaint and demure about it, that not even the most elaborate model can obliterate. It is especially noticeable on several models designed for this season's debutantes.

The best houses here, do not favor sophisticated gowns for these young ladies, but strive rather to impart to their models a youthful smartness and elegance, combined with simplicity.

We show the bertha in all its glory as the distinguishing feature of this lovely evening frock from Worth. It is of figured taffeta in orange, black and beige. The extremely wide skirt is laid in pleats which are stitched part way down. Beaded taffeta makes the bertha which is somewhat deeper at the back than in the front.

There is a crushed girdle of the taffeta knotted at the side. This creation is an example of smart simplicity.

(SKETCHED IN PARIS)

THE little bloused jacket is tightly belted at the natural waistline and is heavily trimmed with gray astrakhan. Lelong, by the way, is particularly addicted to gray. The straight skirt of this tailleur has some circular fullness in the shallow godets placed at the back, extremely low.

Salient Points of Bidding

Auction: South's response to West's opening double shows no Trump bid. Dummy makes the conventional bid in the weak four-card Spade suit in order to preserve his strong forward Diamond suit, concealing the Club.

Contract: East's bid of two Spades is raised by West to three Spades which gives South an opportunity to begin the bidding upon by a bid of four Diamonds. The Diamond bid, made over his partner's bid of Spades, can only be interpreted by West as showing a very strong Diamond suit and a weak four-card suit of Spades. West, however, strong in Spades, is now in position to bid four Spades for game.

The Play

South opens the Jack of Hearts. Declarer covers with Dummy's Queen. South wins with the Ace and returns the 4 of Hearts, which is won by Dummy's King.

Declarer leads a Diamond from Dummy to start the establishment of the suit. South holds up the Ace pending the play of Dummy's remaining Diamond in order that Declarer may not enter his own hand by the lead of a Diamond from Dummy's after the suit's establishment.

Declarer takes advantage of the opportunity to make a trump finesse in respect to the lead of the 9 of Spades holding the trick. Declarer follows with the 2 and successfully finesses Dummy's 10.

Then he leads Dummy's Diamond to complete the establishment of the suit. South winning with the Ace, leads the 10 of Hearts to force the Declarer. Declarer accepts the force and leads the King of Diamonds.

If South trumps, Declarer will over-trump in Dummy. If he does not trump, Declarer can discard a club from Dummy and then by continuing with Diamonds can discard Dummy's two remaining Clubs if South persists in passing. South, realizing the helplessness of the situation, trumps with the king of Diamonds with his king of Spades and Dummy wins with the Ace of Spades.

Declarer then ruffs Dummy's remaining Heart and secures two Club discards from Dummy on the 3 and 4 of Diamonds. Declarer then leads a Club and South is compelled to take the Ace or lose it. Declarer, therefore loses but three tricks, one each in Hearts, Diamonds and Clubs, and goes game on the hand.

Fit well...

for that's one of the secrets of CHARM

IF you don't believe that there's an art to so simple a thing as sitting well, just watch other women sometime. And you can be sure that nine times out of ten when a woman is "fidgety" it's because her feet are uncomfortable. You simply can't hide painful feet.

So besides being so nice looking, Coward Shoes put the woman who wears them completely at ease. These shoes are so comfortable because women have at Coward's the world's greatest variety of styles, widths and sizes from which to choose—and the fitting is done by experts.

MISS MAJESTIC TITLE WON BY MISS NEUNER

In the presence of a capacity house of enthusiastic fans, the winners of the Miss Majestic Popularity Contest were announced and the contest prizes were awarded at the new Netoco Theatre, Beacon in Brighton.

Aware only that they were ten winners but not informed of their positions in the race, the lucky contestants assembled at the Egyptian early in the evening where they were greeted on behalf of the Netoco Theatres by H. D. Ripley, publicity manager of the Netoco Chain and by J. H. McCarthy, contest director for the Entertainers Company, owners of Major Radio and Feature Film contest.

Ripley, in acting as master of ceremonies, introduced McCarthy to the audience and announced that the total number of votes cast in the contest was in excess of ten million.

McCarthy thanked the Netoco patrons for the support they had given to the contestants, and paid a special tribute to the wonderful work of the Boston American and Boston Sunday Advertiser in arousing interest in the contest and in keeping the contestants and their friends informed of the progress of the race.

Ripley then introduced the winners, who in turn thanked the contest managers for their prizes and for the opportunity of winning them.

"It's a gift," Soapy called back as he speeded to spread the news.

"Well, I'll be—I'll—well—GOSH!" He walked absently away. Oh, the good kid—the good little kid! There was a girl to have! A girl that would go to the bat for a fellow!

BUILD UP WITH BON-TONE—NATURE'S OWN REMEDY

No Matter How Many Medicines You Have Tried, Don't Give Up Hope

Build up with Bon-Tone! No matter how long you have suffered or how many other remedies you have taken without success, don't give up hope. Bon-Tone, with its herb attacks the very root of your trouble and assists Nature in the proper functioning of your vital organs. Bon-Tone is a real system treatment and acts gently but steadily. Remember that Bon-Tone contains no harsh chemicals to produce temporary relief—there is no other medicine like Bon-Tone. It is restoring health and strength to countless sufferers in all parts of the country.

Mr. Chas. D. Ryan
Bon-Tone Representative

Just read the statement of Mrs. Sadie Pecci of 10 Dover Street, Cambridge, Mass., who says: "I want to say publicly that Bon-Tone is the only medicine that brought results for me, and my health is better today than it has been in months. For several months I suffered with stomach trouble and nervousness. Shortly after eating, gas would form, pressing up around my heart so that I could hardly catch my breath. I could not walk any distance at all on account of this condition; and even at night the gas pains bothered me so that I could hardly sleep. This condition was making me extremely nervous and I seemed my entire system was upset.

"While passing Cole's drug store I noticed a display of Bon-Tone. I became interested and bought a bottle. It gave me prompt results, so I bought two more bottles. My nerves are now in much better shape—the gas pains have been greatly relieved—and I can now catch my breath with ease. I sleep better during the night—and, in fact, I can now do my own housework, for which I am so thankful. Anyone doubting this statement may call on me personally and I will gladly tell them what Bon-Tone did for me."

Call or write to our Mr. Ryan, the Bon-Tone man, who is meeting the public daily at Epstein Drug Company, Scollay Square, Boston. He will be glad to tell you of other successes that Bon-Tone has had. Bon-Tone is for sale in South Boston at John S. Austin's Drug Store, 435 Broadway, Perkins Square, and in Cambridge at Cole Drug Store, 634 Massachusetts Ave., Central Square.

Ballot Board Hearing Faces Task of Testing 903 Names on Nominations

Denial by a number of witnesses that they had signed the nomination papers of Frederick H. Mansfield, municipal candidate, today featured the opening of the ballot law commission's hearing on charges of fraud and forgery.

Each witness, however, admitted under cross-examination that the signature on the paper resembled his or her hand writing.

Chief Justice Wilfred J. Dolan, chairman of the commission, presided when the session opened in City Hall Annex, and Mansfield was represented by Judge Frederick Cliss and Francis J. Murray.

State Sen. Michael J. Ward of Dorchester, who filed charges against the Mansfield and Daniel H. Coakley papers, was represented by Atty. Henry D. Donovan.

Before the opening of the proceedings it was announced that the hearing would be completed in a week or ten days.

DENIES SHE SIGNED

The first witness was Mrs. Ann M. Curley of Savin hill, who testified she had not signed the nomination paper of Daniel H. Coakley, candidate for Governor.

It will be necessary to call in each of the 5,000 voters whose names were certified and have been checked among the papers, before a decision in the case can be made, it is said.

As Cosby's proof of Curley signatures is said to mean a total of 903 names to be investigated individually, a number of whom will be called to the stand, a patient hearing is expected.

Mrs. Katherine M. Brown of Savin hill, a witness, testified that she had signed the Mansfield papers.

Asked if Mansfield knew what he would be signing if he signed, Mrs. Mary E. Flannery of Gay Head street, Dorchester, said she did not know.

HARVARD TAGS VEX DRIVERS

Wing, according to Cambridge here, entirely without authority Harvard yard police, under Charles Apted, have gone in [illegible] automobiles in an effort to clear the way in public streets near the university.

Several complaints of finding yard police tags on their machines have been made to Cambridge authorities, it was learned today.

Tags have been placed on cars in front of the Fogg Museum in Quincy st., and in streets at various places around the university, especially gate parkways near gates.

Apparently similar to tags used by Boston and Cambridge police, the yard police tag orders the recipient to go to Room 5a, Apted at the Lehman building.

It is understood the practice began following complaints by professors that they had difficulty in getting to and from the museum because of the many parked cars, and other complaints that gate entrances were being blocked.

The truck backed and crushed Candi against a wall. Engine 30 and ladder 25 were called to release the body.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

MOOSE ABOUND IN N. B.

Prehistoric New Brunswick Oct 21—When the cow moose ends the moose abandon the watering holes and take to the open hardwood ridges. It is then that they are stalked or "still hunted" which is considered by many to be the most sportsmanlike method of hunting this monarch of the forest, says a recent Canadian Pacific Railway bulletin.

The most favorable time to stalk the moose is after a fairly heavy fall of snow. The animals tracks are then easily located and the hunter can readily trail them. Also sound is apt to be muffled by the soft snow and the narrow range of vision is appointed impression made by the cow.

The moose is undoubtedly the finest game animal found in North America and nowhere are they more plentiful than in New Brunswick. Despite the open season, their numbers are steadily increasing, thanks to the protection afforded the cows and calves. Moose shed their antlers in December, and in early January, and if the animal is in good condition a new pair will have started by April. Their antlers, while growing, are covered with a fuzzy substance resembling velvet, which entirely disappears before the mating season, when they harden and change to the regular horn-like substance. The season for moose in New Brunswick extends from Oct. 1 to Nov. 30, inclusive, and the limit is one bull moose per man per season.

In Sutton, Dartmouth has found only a fine line plunger, but the best No. 1 back since Hal Hanna. Sutton came to Dartmouth as an end from Waterbury, Conn., and was a wingman on his freshman team.

The death of Hal Hanna, the uncertainty of Capt. Black's condition, and the loss of Cy Snyder, who broke his leg, wiped out all of the fullback prospects last season and Sutton, because of his weight and power was converted from an end to a fullback.

But, like his predecessors, Sutton soon joined the hospital squad, and did not get a chance to show at his new berth. However, Sutton has more than come up to expectations this season, and along with his offensive ability, his defensive playing will compare most favorably with that of any fullback seen in the Stadium this season.

YALE'S HOPE AGAINST ARMY

TERRIERS HOLD FINAL DRILL

Coaches Reggie Brown and Ed Robinson will send their Terriers through a final hard workout this afternoon in preparation for the clash with Detroit Saturday. The B. U. squad is going on high these days after a stiff scrimmage with Holy Cross on Tuesday, and step in if needed but will not be in the starting lineup.

The Terrier backfield quartet which will take the field at the opening kickoff will be Palombo, quarterback; Thurman and Perkins, halfbacks, and Wilke, fullback. These men have worked well together all week, and should continue in the same manner against the Gymnasts.

TUFTS TEAM TAPERS OFF

The Tufts football men will begin taper off the week's workout with a short scrimmage this afternoon. There will be no strenuous work tomorrow, as Sampson Wood has no chances on the possibility of injuries. The greater part of the afternoon session will be taken up in a dummy scrimmage.

Harry Atkinson will take his old place at left end, which will bolster the line considerably, and Jack Gibbons will run through the dummy scrimmage in his old fullback position from which he has been absent since his leg injury, incurred in the Bates game.

Chet Story will be back at the left tackle berth in place of Stafford, who seemed slated to take the veteran's place from him.

The rest of the team seems to be sure to start as in last week's game with Holland having a chance to start in place of Muskavitz.

LOUGHRAN GO IF BIG BOY WINS

With an opportunity to fire Tommy Loughran ahead of him, Larry "Big Boy" Rawson, knock-out king from Dorchester, will shoot the whole works Monday night in the Arena in an attempt to knock out Jack DeMave, the golden boy from Jersey.

Rawson's savage punching has carried him from the preliminary ranks to the main bout class almost at a single bound. His outstanding victory was scored against Joe Monte of Brockton, whom he overwhelmed in one minute 15 seconds.

The Millstreams are without a doubt the best team that the Irishtons have faced this season and they will make every endeavor to prove that their win over Peabody two weeks ago was no fluke.

Messrs Beveridge, Daly, Hardy and other star players that comprise the Dorchester lineup will have to be watched very closely Sunday afternoon.

Army Plebe Wins

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 24 — Army's plebe football team was one step nearer a perfect record for the season today.

Mackenzie, school of Monroe, were the Plebe's latest victims, losing yesterday, 19 to 6.

Canadian Flier Joins Tiger Squad

Osborne Lefurgey, provisional pilot in the Royal Canadian Air Forces, who almost lost his life when his plane crashed at Bridgewater last summer, has joined the Easton Tiger hockey squad as a goal tender.

Lefurgey is a Prince Edward Islander and has made a name for himself as a goaler throughout the maritime provinces.

Last year he played for Dartmouth, N. S., and he has been in the nets for some of the strongest maritime teams, including Summerside, P. E. I., Crystals and Dalhousie University.

His status with the Tigers is provisional, for in Herb Reaume the team has the best goalie in the Canada-American League. Manager Powers, however, is considering carrying an extra goalie this season and Lefurgey is out to prove he is the man for the job.

Billiard Match Starts Today

Frank Taberski, the champion and Ralph Greenleaf, the two great exponents of pocket billiards, will commence play this afternoon in a one-block match at the New Twentieth Century room on 8 Summer st. Blocks of 125 balls will be played this afternoon and tonight starting at 8 o'clock.

It will be the first test between the two since Taberski won the championship from Greenleaf last December in Chicago in a match which was bitterly fought and marked by protests on both sides which were disallowed.

Ex-Tufts Grid Star Joins Fitton Eleven

A welcome addition to the Fitton football team of East Boston when they clash with the Dorchester Millstream Sunday at Fort Banks, Winthrop, will be Jim O'Neil Fitzgerald, former all-American tackle for Tufts. It is expected that there will be other additions to the Fitton squad in a few days, as manager is determined to beat, in East Boston and the North Shore the strongest team in his force.

The Millstreams are without a doubt the best team that the Irishtons have faced this season and they will make every endeavor to prove that their win over Peabody two weeks ago was no fluke.

Messrs Beveridge, Daly, Hardy and other star players that comprise the Dorchester lineup will have to be watched very closely Sunday afternoon.

"Long Count" Claimed in Army-Harvard Game

New York, Oct. 24—West Point campus is stirred over reports that the Army-Harvard game at Cambridge last Saturday went two minutes and 53 seconds overtime. Timing the game unofficially for the benefit of coaches, two cadets saw their watches continue past the 15-minute mark which should have ended the final period, according to reports to the World.

Since Wood passed some 40 yards to Ike Harding in the last 90 seconds of actual play for a touchdown, which when converted, gave the Crimson a 20 to 20 tie, the implication, of course, is that the Army should have won by 20 to 13.

Official West Point refuses even to discuss the case. Captain "Biff" Jones, Army coach, said: "I do not wish even to talk on the subject."

Schollenberger to Captain Green Cubs

Hanover, N. H., Oct. 24—L. P. Schollenberger of Chicago was elected captain of the Dartmouth freshman football team. He played left halfback and prepared at Lake Forest, where he starred in the backfield last season. The yearling squad will meet the Roxbury eleven here next Saturday for the first time in years.

Harvard and Green Even, Says Gilroy

By RALPH GILROY

Former All-American Princeton Halfback.

THE rival Harvard and Dartmouth camps are sending out the psychological "flunk" in great style just about this time.

JACK CANNELL'S forces have a much better preliminary record than Coach [illegible] with Al Masters running wild. Dartmouth has also [illegible] and Jones [illegible]

THE best reason for Columbia's hopeful effort seems to be that the Dartmouth eleven got the jump, got "Al" Masters loose for two touchdowns before Charlie Crowley's eleven could get its breath, and then proceeded to keep rolling over a discouraged team.

After the first few minutes of play this affair didn't be called a real test for the Dartmouth eleven.

The Crimson eleven can boast of no such impressive scoring spree. They have, however, had a test to the hilt. Not off form in the [illegible] with the Big Green [illegible]

The Hanoverians have felt the full [illegible] and have been pulled on a shoestring and have felt the pile driving tactics of a [illegible] Murrell. They have come back with defeat staring them in the face to a glorious tie.

This come-back in big game competition is a far bigger asset in making an eleven than all the lopsided scores that can be run up against smaller and weaker opponents. Dartmouth has the bigger point total and Harvard has the benefit of a real struggle under her belt but still undefeated

JACK CANNELL'S eleven will carry into Saturday's affair at the stadium a slight superiority in the backfield due to the brilliant "Al" Masters who is playing his third season for Dartmouth. Al has a [illegible]

Let Girls Be Tomboys

By CONSTANCE CAMERON

VIRGINIA'S mother is fearfully concerned these days because her little doll of a daughter who went to kindergarten last year a dainty fairy of a child, ... home from school this ... rushes in, grabs an apple and shouts her way out to the "gang" in the next yard. And the "gang" boasts of but one girl—and that girl is Virginia, called "Jimmy" by the other members.

Now Mother hadn't planned things that way at all. Virginia was to grow up just as she had been a baby, fragrant, sweet smelling, yellow-curled, and demure. She was to carry on the tradition of the family, the pride in women who were soft voiced, slow in movement, sweet, apparently submissive women who were strong and hard as most vines are when you try to uproot them. But on the surface—helpless "ladies" to the nth degree.

But Virginia is in the first grade now. She has met the world, not the quiet tranquil world of home, but the boisterous, rowdy, every man-for-himself world of childhood and school days. And she loves it!

An she doesn't want to be quiet, and shy, and helpless.

Recently "Jimmy's" mother gazed, horror upon her small daughter pulling and tugging at she took a small boy playmate for a ride in the community cart they use. ... fluttered out to the porch ... "Why, Jimmie Jones! Shame on you ... ting a little girl pull you around ... Little boys should do the pulling and let the girls ride."

A tom-boy," wails the gentle mother. "No woman child of ours has ever played ball, and dug in the mud and climbed trees and been called 'Jimmy.' It's awful."

But the mother doesn't insure me to weep with her. She makes me chuckle. And I can think of nothing I'd rather have a little girl be than just a plain "tom-boy." I can think of nothing which would be a healthier body than playing with the boys, running and digging and playing ball and building tracks of soap boxes, and standing the ... off of a boy's world which is bound ... sometimes ... fit ...

Little girl ... can be taught the ... to ... on a cushion and sew a fine ... Being ... is a ... precludes their ever acquiring feminine charm ...

Let the small girls be "tomboys." Both sexes have an equal right to vigorous outdoor exercise, to strenuous play. Vigorous lungs and healthy play aren't particularly applicable to the male sex alone, as far as I can figure it out. Forget sex while children are young, playing and growing and enjoying themselves until we put a crimp in the fun by admonishing our daughters to "be little ladies." And being a "lady" nowadays is the equivalent of fainting when we find a dead mouse ...

Rainbow Wedding

By MRS. BEECKMAN

DEAR MRS BEECKMAN:

Please tell me what is meant by a rainbow wedding. Do the bridesmaids wear the same type of dresses in different colors?

ESTELLE

YES. Pink, color, pink, light blue, ... yellow—these are some ... of the shades that are often combined.

One clever bride I knew bought some sweet peas of different shades and combined them to see the best effect that she could obtain in the harmonizing of the dresses of the bridal attendants.

DEAR MRS BEECKMAN:

Would it be proper to ... wedding announcements to relatives and friends? We have been married since January, but have not told the news to anyone ...

MRS. K. H.

IT would be better to tell the friends whom you see constantly and to write notes to those who live out of town. This informal form of announcement is best, and it does not call so much attention to their unconventionality of the wedding.

Gurnett & Co. who have been bearish on the stock market for some months advised all offices around noon that in their opinion stocks had struck bottom and were selling at bargain-counter prices.

Jesse L. Livermore, reputed to be the biggest "bear" in the stock market at present, took a fling at the buying side today. A rumor to that effect had gone the rounds and he was questioned concerning it. "I've been buying all morning," he said.

Ford Regards Everything as Educational

Wealth Represented by Notables at Detroit

By B. C. Forbes

DETROIT, Oct. 24—You never in your life saw so many nabobs of business as have been crowding around here as Will Rogers couldn't spit without damaging a billionaire, multi-millionaire or millionaire. Yes, both American and foreign families were here to honor their fellow citizen, Edison. Young John D. Rockefeller, Jr., was recognized by few. At one point he got into a spell of recognition like and also one honest citizen is a "And what is your name?" the present people enjoy it now and in the years to come."

B. C. Forbes

Mr. Ford next related this incident with great relish. He stamped all his Edisonian effort with the half mark of authenticity.

"We were in Mr. Edison's private laboratory, said Mr. Ford, "and Mr. Edison was wonderfully interested in seeing and reliving those early experiences. He examined this and that. Then pointing to something, he exclaimed, 'That was built by a carpenter living a mile and a half from here.'

"The poles," said Mr. Ford, "are actually hook in Menlo Park. The carpenter lived a mile and a half from it."

Mr. Ford commented, "Before Mr. Edison was through he triumphed the whole town mulling said. "This makes me feel ten years younger."

• • •

Edison is painfully frail and feeble now. Mr. Ford frankly confessed that he would not be able to bear up against all the excitement of the week. Edison is physically struggled through the reading of but one paragraph of the whole address. Mrs. Edison took him away immediately after he finished.

"How much wealth is there represented here?" some one asked me. "More probably than ever before gathered together for any one purpose," I ventured to reply.

Within 10 minutes I spotted such Napoleonic figures as Owen D. Young and Gerard Swope, heads of General Electric; Fred J. Fisher, head of the famous Fisher Body; General Motors family; Charles M. Schwab, whose Bethlehem Steel Co. now makes 30 per cent more steel than the U. S. Steel Corporation made when Schwab was its first president; Samuel Insull, the ultra-dynamic electric power magnate of the Mahlo West; President Robertson of the far-flung Westinghouse Electric; President Paul Crowley, of the new York Central and President Dan Willard, of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad; John D. Rockefeller, Jr.; President Mason, of American Exchange National bank, the National City of New York; Otto Kahn, International banker; Messrs. Stone and Webster, who became electrical engineers shortly after Edison made his first incandescent lamp; Adolph S. Ochs, New York Times; George Foster Peabody, New York philanthropist; Walter Chrysler, auto leader, who calls Edison a marvelous engineer; President Erskine, of Studebaker; President McCarter of the Public Service Commission of New Jersey; President Arthur Wright, of the Georgia Power Company; President Matt Sloan, of New York Edison; C. W. Nash, Roy D. Chapin, Howard E. Coffin, all of auto fame; Paul Schoolkopf, electric power giant of Oregon.

W. Alton Jones, active head of Henry L. Doherty and Company; President John Haylor, of Nebraska Power; Harvey Firestone, picnic companion of Edison and Ford; J. O'Brien, head of the gigantic Byllesby properties; J. E. Boyer and Standish Backus, Rumsonghs sadking machine; Julius Rosenwald, the Chicago mail order king. Then on his hands the task of getting Cal Coolidge (along with Al Smith) to agree to the plan for raising some ten million dollars left by a philanthropist; President Aylesworth, of the National Broadcasting Company; Alex Dow, of Detroit, Henry Ford's boss when Henry was at the helm; Edward Bok; Will Hays, movie overlord; Orville Wright, father of flying; Walker B. Barstow, president of the Edison pioneers.

Mr. Rosenwald is being joshed about his latest role, namely, working in company with Coolidge and Al Smith. He is repeatedly asked what instruments he is going to use on the Yankee Coolidge to get him to loosen up and give away big chunks of money.

UTILITIES ON BIG CURB OFF HEAVILY

New York, Oct. 24 (AP)—Market values melted away before another bearish onslaught of enormous proportions on the New York Curb market today.

Losses of 20 points and more in the favorite utilities were almost equalled in other sections of the list as the selling pressure swept on, making the fourth more than 3,000,000 share day.

Electric Investors plunged 40 points, American Superpower more than 30, Allied Power & Light 20, Associated Gas & Electric A & B, Central States Electric 5 and United Light 1. Cities Service made a dizzy drop, opening with a record-breaking book of 15,000 shares for a loss of 20 points, the stock crashed to a net decline of 13 points. Other mile fell precipitately.

Aluminum Co. of America was hammered down about 25 points. Crocker Wheeler new 16, General Theatres 6 and Decca 10.

Investment trusts were dumped on to the market in large blocks. Goldman Sachs Trading fell off about 30 points. Several others ponded to new lows.

There was an appearance of strength in some of the utilities and specialties in the late trading, but toward noon the flood gates of selling were reopened and trading proceeded in record volume.

Unfilled Orders of Murray Up 300 P. C.

Chairman Harold Barker of Murray Corp. states that directors have given no thought to possibility of suspension or reduction of dividends. At present the company pays $3 cash and 3 per cent stock annually.

Unfilled orders are 300 per cent ahead of a year ago, and the management expects, with resumption of general manufacturing activity by the chief customers towards the end of the year, to enjoy in the first quarter of 1930 one of its most flourishing business periods.

PROFIT ON HARD COAL TO BE NARROW

Although the general industrial activity of the year has been reflected in increased coal production, constantly weakening prices, which this summer were at the lowest point in several years, will allow little improvement in operators' profits over the unfavorable showing of last year, the Union Trust Co. of Cleveland reports.

In a survey of the bituminous coal industry in its magazine, Trade Winds, the bank further says that, while definite signs of the long-awaited eventual improvement of the industry's position, progress is likely to be slow.

"The production of bituminous coal for the first eight months of the year was 337,000,000 net tons, as against 334,000,000 for the same period of 1928, the back reports from figures for the remaining months of the year does not exceed that of the last four months of 1928, the total for 1929 will exceed 528,000,000 tons.

However, such gains are lower than usual. The fact that there are some quarters is an indication that the last four months of the year will probably not equal the 7 million ton increase of the last quarter of 1928. For the entire year 1929 will be 55,000,000 tons.

"The outlook for the coming year is encouraging, but it must be remembered that the present rate of production is not the result of increased activity in the industry, but is due largely to the fact that consumers have been forced to the policy of purchasing on a hand-to-mouth basis, resulting in the beginning of the highest stocks and the lowest prices in many years, with unemployment rife. The economic forces are at work to correct this situation, but the process is gradual. The excess capacity of the mines is not the only factor to be considered.

"In conclusion the situation of the bituminous coal industry appears to be essentially this: The labor situation has been solved by flexible mobility and a policy of wage union has demanded. The competing sources of energy water power, natural gas and petroleum products—are limited. The problem of surplus production will be solved by time and the grim operation of economic law.

"The solution will require a long-drawn period of attrition and high mortality. Most of the operators believe that the situation must get worse before it gets better, but that it will get better."

AUTO OUTPUT IS STUDIED

Automotive Industries this week will say: Automobile production has been experiencing a sensational decline of a steeper nature than last year. Peak records established earlier in 1929. September was the first month, however, in which the total production, cars and trucks, for the United States and Canada, fell below the figure for the same month last year.

September production of motor vehicles in the United States and Canada, as reported by the Department of Commerce, was 429,149, as compared with 458,007 produced during September, 1928, a drop of 7.58 units. Nine month production for 1929 totaled 4,871,524, compared with 3,672,871 produced during the first nine months of last year, a gain of 1,198,653 vehicles. It appears doubtful if the October production total will equal that of September, 1928.

Ford's announced schedule of production for the remainder of the year calls for the manufacture of approximately 50 per cent of his October production.

Passenger car registrations for the United States in September are estimated to be from 15 per cent in excess of the number for that month last year. It is believed that the figure for October, 1929, will be around 315,000, as compared with 272,000 for September, 1928. August sales of passenger cars were 14 per cent in excess of those of the same month in 1928.

Sales for the first eight months of the year aggregated around 2,564,000 as compared with 2,230,000 for the same period of 1928, indicating an increase of 24 per cent, most of which was accounted for by Ford. New car sales are estimated at something over 50 per cent heavier at this time than they were a year ago, while used car stocks are approximately 20 per cent greater.

NEW RECORD IN IRON-STEEL OUTPUT

Although output and consumption of iron and steel in October continued to show a decline from the preceding months, the September production of 116,008 tons a day constituted a new monthly record according to John T. Martin, President, The Exchange Trust Company.

Steel ingot production, which averaged 117,153 tons a day, was a decline of 4 per cent from August, but surpassed September, 1928, by 9 per cent.

New orders, particularly for railroad consumption, have been placed in good volume and as a consequence, bookings of the United States Steel Corporation increased 244,250 tons on October 1 as compared with the previous month.

COMMODITIES PRICE INDEX IS LOWER

Washington, October 24—A further decline of one-half of one per cent in commodity prices was registered during the week ended October 19 in the index of wholesale prices compiled by the National Fertilizer Association. During the preceding week the decline was two-tenths of one per cent, and during the week prior to that the decline was four-tenths of one per cent. Since September 21 the decline has amounted to 1.3 per cent and since August 3 to 2.2 per cent.

Since the peak of wholesale commodity prices was reached nearly four years ago in November, 1925, the index of wholesale prices has declined 8.2 per cent.

CLARK, DODGE & CO.

THE NATIONAL CITY COMPANY
DILLON, READ & CO.
THE UNION TRUST COMPANY OF PITTSBURGH

Below is given a brief resume of the activities of your Company with particular reference to developments which have taken place during the past year.

We have continued the policy of making investments in diversified fields of activity, thus broadening the basis for our growth, and of maintaining relations with leading enterprises in Sweden and abroad, with a view to facilitating financing operations incident to large industrial and commercial transactions.

The Company already owns, directly or through its subsidiary holding companies, substantial stock interests in the following enterprises: Swedish Match Company, controlling International Match Corporation and, with its subsidiaries, comprising the largest match manufacturing and distributing organization in the world; Grangesberg Company with its affiliated companies, the largest producer of iron-ore in Europe; real estate companies in Sweden, Germany and France; banks and banking companies in Sweden, France, Germany, Holland, Switzerland and Poland. Among the Company's assets are also large holdings of foreign government bonds.

Kreuger & Toll Company has recently contracted to acquire controlling stock interests in ten companies engaged in the lumber and wood-pulp industries of Northern Sweden. All of these concerns have established businesses and together comprise the largest factor in their field in Sweden, their combined output of pulp representing approximately 30% of the total for the country and their output of sawn lumber, about 15%.

In order that the Company may acquire these interests in the Swedish lumber and wood-pulp industries and in order that it may be in a position to co-operate further with Swedish Match Company and International Match Corporation in certain transactions connected with the match industry, it proposes at this time to increase its capital. The proposed increase includes the offering, to the holders of Participating Debentures and Shares of the Company, of rights to subscribe to Kr. 37,916,660 par value additional Participating Debentures and Kr. 10,833,400 par value additional Shares, at a price of more than 400% of par value, and the private sale, at a price substantially in excess of the subscription price, of Kr. 20,000,000 par value additional Participating Debentures and Kr. 166,600 par value additional Shares.

Based on the December 31, 1928 consolidated balance sheet of the Company and its wholly-owned subsidiary holding companies (Swedish American Investment Corporation and N. V. Financiecle Maatschappij Kreuger & Toll) adjusted to give effect to acquisition of certain assets and issuance of certain securities since that date as well as the present proposed capital increase, total net assets, after deducting all liabilities having priority over the Participating Debentures and Share Capital, are more than $245,000,000.

Consolidated net earnings of the Company and its wholly-owned subsidiary holding companies for the 3 years ended December 31, 1928, before interest on Participating Debentures and after adjustment for intercompany items and dividends on a subsidiary company's preferred stock now retired, are as follows:

Such net earnings for 1928 are equivalent to 60% on the total Kr. 130,000,000 par value Participating Debentures and Share Capital outstanding at the end of that year, or the equivalent of $3.23 per American Certificate. Preliminary figures for the first nine months of 1929 indicate that net earnings are at an annual rate of not less than 67% on the total Kr. 146,250,000 par value Participating Debentures and Share Capital outstanding at the end of that period, or the equivalent of approximately $3.60 per American Certificate.

These earnings do not include any allowance for income from the assets now proposed to be acquired and the foregoing calculation, therefore, includes no adjustment for the additional securities to be issued under the terms of the present proposed increase in capital. The assets now to be acquired will afford new sources of income and will add substantially to the earnings of the Company for the coming year.

The ship, piloted by R. G. Tindall, chief instructor of the Curtiss Flying Service, carried as passengers R. G. McAllister, special representative of Durant Motors, and Russell Whelan of Detroit.

They were greeted at the airport by W. H. Stevens, New England district manager for Durant, and a group of Durant dealers who were given a flight over Boston in the plane.

After the flight dealers and guests left the airport in a fleet of cars for the Boston Durant headquarters, where Mr. McAllister addressed the group. He pointed out that the air tour is indicative of the sort of promotional and advertising assistance Durant Motors is giving its dealers and salesmen.

Bridge Intersections for Foot Traffic

Editor Boston American:

The great question before Bostonians is not, Who will be the next mayor of this city, but what will relieve traffic congestion?

I started out three days this week to look over this traffic jam. You find it everywhere in the city. I really pity the traffic officers at the corner of Tremont and Boylston sts. In fact all the officers along Washington and Tremont sts. need one day off every week. It is a terrible wrench upon the nerves to be swaying your hand every few minutes to direct traffic.

Years ago they had this traffic jam in New York city, where Fulton st. enters Broadway. They solved it by putting a bridge over Fulton st. across Broadway. It did not serve the purpose very well and it was shortly removed. Yet there is a suggestion here for modern traffic. Build foot passenger bridges across every other street entering Washington and Tremont sts.

Born Criminals Can't Be Improved

Editor Boston American:

Your editorial on the "convict in knee pants" is altogether uncalled for. Editorials, as a rule, are written on subjects that are familiar to the editor but you certainly missed out this time.

Frank Rokas is a born criminal and will never be improved mentally whether he is shut up in a palace, industrial school or prison. He is just like an infected tooth among a lot of fairly decent ones.

I know from observation and experience, that a great many of the boys sent to the "industrial school" are sent there because they have gotten the overhand on their parents and guardians, and they need a little discipline that would start them on the right outlook on life.

With a character like Rokas there, those boys minds would be poisoned more than is good for them. Perhaps you had better make a trip up to Nashua, N. H., and look up the boy and his influences. I'm sure you'd change your mind.

Speeding Trucks on City Streets

Editor Boston American:

Down with auto trucks speeding along Boston streets! There should be in the city limits, a uniform rate of speed.

I was standing at the corner of Commonwealth ave. when from one of the sides streets came whizzing around the corner at a speedy rate, one of those auto trucks and I just escaped being struck.

I jumped and the driver just laughed at me.

I was so worked up that I did not take the number of the auto. Any way, the auto speeded away down the avenue. Then these drivers blame pedestrians of being in the way. JUSTICE.

Keyserling's Idea of Humor Vague

Editor Boston American:

I was reading the other day Count Hermann Keyserling's definition of humor. Here it is, published in Boston:

"He only has humor in the real sense who knows how to give expression to a profound and even tragic opposition from the point of a benevolent and serene mind."

Oh, piffle! What does that mean? I passed it on to one of the professors of Harvard University, where I am studying. He looked at it.

"I must see you later on this," he replied. "At present there may be humor hid in those sentences, but it will take time to dig it up."

"I should say so," I thought. Will any of your readers try to throw light upon this definition of humor.

It is taking all the joy out of my life.

HARVARD STUDENT.

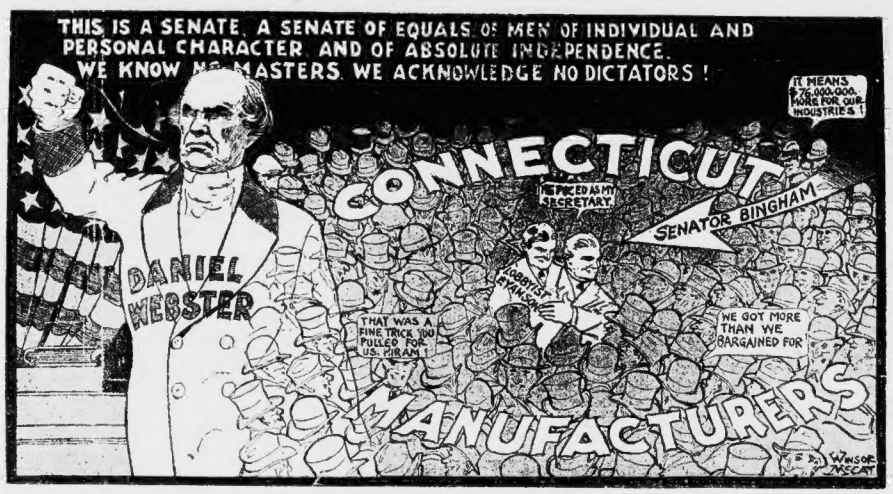
United States Senate Is on Trial Before American People Until It Takes Proper Action in Shocking Bingham Case

WHAT A DIFFERENCE A FEW YEARS MAKE?

Copyright 1929



THIS IS A SENATE, A SENATE OF EQUALS OF MEN OF INDIVIDUAL AND PERSONAL CHARACTER AND OF ABSOLUTE INDEPENDENCE. WE KNOW NO MASTERS. WE ACKNOWLEDGE NO DICTATORS !
IT MEANS $76,000,000 MORE FOR OUR INDUSTRIES !
DANIEL WEBSTER
CONNECTICUT
IS PICKED AS MY SECRETARY.
SENATOR BINGHAM
HOBBLER BINGHAM
THAT WAS A FINE TRICK YOU PULLED FOR US, PIRAM !
WE GOT MORE THAN WE BARGAINED FOR MANUFACTURERS
E. D. Winsor '29

It is a fat cry from the Senate that Daniel Webster, of Massachusetts, extolled to the Senatorship that Connecticut's Senator Bingham has so deeply discredited. Webster exalted the Senate in these ringing words:

"This is a SENATE, a senate of equals, of men of individual honor and personal character, and of absolute independence. We know no masters; we acknowledge no dictators."

BINGHAM has discredited his Senatorship in this indefensible way:

As a member of the Senate Committee on Finance, engaged in framing a new tariff law, he slipped into the secret sessions of that committee as his clerk, duly sworn, a highly paid representative of a manufacturers' organization seeking tariff favors.

Although this clerk was put on the Senate payroll, he turned over to another the money that he drew from that source, because, all the while, he was being paid by the manufacturers at the rate of $10,000 a year and expenses.

And the details of this slippery transaction did not become known to the Senate until they were exposed by the Hearst newspapers and made a matter of official record by Senator Bingham's own admissions on the Senate floor and before the special committee investigating the lobby.

THERE is no doubt about what the Senate of Daniel Webster would have thought about a Senator who stooped to do what Senator Bingham has done.

But what does the Senate or Senator Bingham think about what he airily calls his "mistake"?

AND WHAT IS THE SENATE GOING TO DO ABOUT IT?

Here is no question of tariff making, or tariff policy.

Neither partisan feeling nor sectional prejudice and, least of all, personal bias, enter into this unsavory episode.

SENATOR BINGHAM arrogantly notified his Senatorial examiners that he was not on trial.

That is true.

He has already confessed, after his relations with the Connecticut lobbyist were exposed by the Hearst newspapers.

But the Senate of the United States is on trial before the American people.

And the Senate will remain on trial until it shows by that action which speaks louder than words whether it takes its standards of honor and character and independence from Daniel Webster or Hiram Bingham.

'Objectionable' Drinking

Forbidden at Amherst

THERE'S a young collegian ont in Western Massachusetts who will bear watching. He shows to a degree remarkable in one of his years a certain nice discretion in the choice of words which in days to come may be worth a ton of money to a distressed Committee on Resolutions.

As a member of the student organization which draws up Rules of Conduct for the undergraduate body, the young man in question accomplished this one:

"Rule No. 1—At all college dances, or upon any occasion when the college is acting as host, objectionable drinking will be considered misconduct. The committee feels that this is in accord with the commonly accepted duty of courtesy to one's guests."

What IS objectionable drinking?

The prohibitionist will answer that it is the drinking of intoxicating liquor, as described by the Volstead Act.

Is that what the committee means?

The answer is Yes and No.

Farewell, Ambassadors

By Trey Hang On

WE appoint ambassadors and this "democratic nation" builds expensive embassy buildings, because once it was necessary for a king or other ruler to have his man talk for him in the foreign country.

During his visit to America, Ramsay MacDonald talked every day over the telephone to his office at No. 10 Downing street, London.

Now that heads of nations can talk to each other, ambassadors are only messenger boys carrying out orders that are changed or renewed from day to day.

Still the embassy nonsense continues.

The first automobiles had dashboards in front and no mud-guards on the wheels.

Habit is powerful.

The BAER Facts

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

KANSAS Board of Health has apparently recognized kissing as an indoor sport.

With the co-operation of the Public Health Service it has established rules for amateur osculators in that free and trammeled state.

Never kiss a person who has chills and fever. The difference between malaria and true love is so minute that only an expert from the Kansas board of health could spot it.

We are warned that nagging is a cancer, and is also dangerous. We have seen those collegiate bobbies in ankle socks and we have never seen a fraternity defeat a sorority.

Never sink in crowded places. That's good advice for the sahara. The smart ones wear shin guards at a Yale prom. Our inland Kansas the intelligent girl starts with a confidence mask.

If you feel ill after a kiss take a mustard foot bath.

Wouldn't John Gilbert look sheikish in one of those?

Looks as if those good, old Kansas boys had let whiskers are grown just for amusement and more for shock absorbing.

If you are forced to play post office and other games of a like nature of infantile education, be quick and carom frequently.

We have never heard the dulcitual roar of occasional gargling.

Avoid drafts while kissing. That's how a lot of boys avoided that big row in 1917.

We would like to be an investigator for the Kansas Board of Health.

It seems to be an authority on the subject and is speaking from first-hip information.

Many years ago an unanswered question made William Allen White famous. He wanted to know what was the matter with Kansas.

They didn't know, so they made him Governor, or something. Both jobs carry equal prestige.

The trouble with Kansas is that its board of health is seeing America through a bedspread.

You cannot write preambles to romance, nor scribble amendments to a bug.

We advise the Kansas Board of Health to take its own mustard bath and make it about 12 feet deep in the middle.

H. G. Wells Writes on "The Science of Life"

In Collaboration With

Prof. Julian Huxley and Geo. P. Wells

BOOK THE FIRST

The Material Life of Man: What a Living Body Is and What It Does.

CHAPTER 1.

The Body Is a Machine

SECTION 1. The fundamental routine of two living creatures.

WE shall begin this work as we shall end it, with man. There our interest in life begins and there it culminates.

We shall find first that the human body is a machine, amenable to the same chemical and physical laws as most of the machines in our world. But next we shall realize that, in fact, a far more complicated than any machines that have ever been contrived by human agency.

And, thirdly, we shall find it is a machine which does its own repairs, sees to its own fueling and lubrication—though many automobile owners to the latter need nowadays—and has the capacity of making many machines to replace itself.

For the most part we shall be writing of Man in the opening book. But there are close similarities to him in most of the familiar animals about us, and occasionally it will be convenient to cite the ape, the dog, the cat and the mouse to fill in gaps of our description.

Let us first take a Man. Mr. Everyman. We consider certain familiar but sometimes disregarded aspect of his daily life. We shall say nothing here of his loves and hates, his dreams and his political opinions.

We will consider him first as a moving body and note little facts. They illuminate the mechanical sequence of his being.

On the stroke of seven he is roused by the persistent alarm-clock. Mechanically he turns to his alarm-clock. He washes his face and neck and he brushes his teeth, brushing, unless it is Sunday or some other red-letter day, he does not worry about the rest of his anatomy, for that will be effectively concealed by his clothes.

H. G. Wells

If the time he is dressed and brushed he is well aware of a clamour from his own inside—from his digestive organs; and they have to be silenced and kept busy before he can attend to anything else.

It is his machinery demanding fuel. And so he turns to breakfast. Then he sets out to his work.

It may be that he spends his morning at a desk, or behind a counter, or in some physically arduous employment. He is making his food supply secure. Sooner or later he finds his energy slackening, his attention wandering. His digestive organs are calling for attention again.

So out he goes to lunch and then back again to his desk or wherever it is that he works.

Before he goes to bed he will dave to answer that imperious demand from within again. He may answer it once or twice. Three or four times a day he feeds his stomach to keep his wheels going round—and several times, we must note, he has to deposit the residue of their working in appropriate places.

There we have the fundamental and unavoidable element of his routine. Saint and sinner, plutocrat and proletarian, judge and criminal must all observe a similar round. All men must eat.

And at length after Mr. Everyman's day of eating, etc.—the etc. may vary but the eating is constant—comes the night and the desire for sleep. There again is another great universal, and our Mr. Everyman, however his afternoon and evening have been spent, realizes at last a growing need for repose.

He makes his way back to the bedroom in which we found him, winds up his alarm clock, puts his head on his pillow and drops back into the comparative inactivity of slumber.

The daily round of life has completed its circle. Man must eat and also man must sleep. There may be interruptions and delay but that is the formula and to disobey it for any length of time is death.

But even when Mr. Everyman sleeps, he is not all inactive. The mechanism is still moving. His heart, his lungs are not sleeping. They tick on just as the clock does—but at a slower, steadier pace than during the day.

The house grows still. Presently the silence is broken by little sounds that echo disproportionately loud, a squeak and a little stir behind the skirting, a patter over the floor.

It is Mr. Everymouse, another familiar embodiment of life abroad.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

NO matter how sophisticated a modern woman may become, the "baby stare" will always be more deadly to the male than the most provocative "come hither" look. It makes him feel so "masterful."

Some women go right on chasing illusions at 40; but by that time, most of us are kept eternally busy dodging DISillusionment.

At this exciting season of renovation, a man never knows when he opens the front door, whether he will find his Home gone Spanish, Oriental, Queen Anne, Early American or old Italian.

When a woman isn't getting over a love-affair, she is always getting into one; but, the average man is so ambidextrous that he can do both at the same time, without even getting his dates or his emotions mixed.

A man cannot KILL a healthy conscience, but he can usually anesthetize it long enough to enjoy the first few kisses and as much as he really wants of the little flirtation.

Somehow, it is always a shock to a man, to read his wedding announcements, fresh from the printers—and to realize that the last loop-hole of escape is closed to him.

It is so difficult for a man to find both a mental stimulant and an emotional stimulant in the same woman. Yet, even when he succeeds, he is often foolish enough to permit himself to be lured away from her by the first baby-faced, little thing who appeals to his eyes and his senses.

A little sympathy is a dangerous thing—especially in a man who is just convalescing from a shattered love affair.

Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

RARE orchids in a flower shop.
Their petals cool and dim:
And yet they hint of perils dared
To meet a woman's whim.
Of tropic forests' strange domains
And tangled jungle deeps
Through which, unseen the danger stalks,
The stealthy terror creeps
A pot of gay geraniums
Upon a window-sill
That lend their brightness to the room.
A woman's need to fill:
Fresh, scarlet blooms that speak of home
And simple, homely things.
They still can lift the burdened thought
Of joyous upward wings
Exotic blooms of common-place.
The part is theirs to play:
To scatter loveliness and grace
Along some byway's way.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 24—The most profitable concession, considering the investment, at Coney Island is the Incubator Baby Show. It has been running for more than 20 years, and many who were puling infants in glass cases are now married and have children.

This past summer the incubator displayed a batch of seven. The daddy of the incubator idea is Dr. Z. O. Couney, who came to this country from Silesia. He first exhibited his idea at the Omaha exhibition and created so much interest he was persuaded to join the Coney boardwalk exhibitionists.

While some shudder at the notion of premature babies being displayed in this manner, the records show Dr. Couney has nurtured and nursed more than 6000 weaklings into health and useful activity, whereas, medical men say, they might otherwise have perished.

Coney happens to be an ideal spot for the pure and filtered air which is such a prime necessity for incubator babies. The sun is also in abundance. The infant exhibit is almost invariably charity cases, and the 25-cent admission fee proves ample for the upkeep of the experiment.

It supports the institution the year around and enables the doctor to employ several doctors and a dozen nurses. There is no charge for the tiny inmates, and they receive the same professional attention they would receive in high-priced hospitals.

The babies are usually six and seven months old when placed in the incubator, and in five weeks may be handled as other normal babies. The identities are never divulged even to attendants. Only Dr. Couney knows. Many of his former "boys and girls" are his friends and visit him regularly.

Now and then there is a pickaninny, and it invariably balloons the receipts. The babies are taken out and fed every three hours. They are provided with milk from wet nurses. Strangely enough, more men are visitors to the incubator show than women.

Many attaches of Coney have spent all their adult lives in this freakish community. Life wears a mask at Coney. It has a mysterious lure that is difficult to leave. Coney Islanders are often as remote in their attitude toward New York as a New Zealander. Some have not visited the metropolis in years.

Sea Gate, at the lower tip of Coney's incessant brush, is one of the exclusive residential areas in the New York suburban arena. It skirts the ocean and has only one entrance—a huge gate with watchmen on guard day and night. No visitor may enter without first receiving permission by telephone from the guest he is visiting.

The aristocracy of Coney is as pronounced as in other strata of society. Each stratum has gradations. There is a caste among snake charmers, barkers, cane ring men, the "strange people" of the side shows, ticket takers and even the shuffling pushchair rollers.

From Coney to the Casino in Central Park is a big jump but here we go! The experiment in food like restaurant running received more extravagant free puffs than any other ever launched in the city. Some of it favorable and some of it not so hot. The Casino does a whopping business and there is always a waiting line. It has been said that once a place becomes celebrated for high prices in New York the rest is easy. The Casino again proves this is true.

The high silk hat is facing an eclipse this winter. In Europe men in evening dress are going bareheaded. It is not an economic necessity but a convenience. Men who wear high toppers usually ride in limousines where the tall lid is cumbersome. Going bareas saves them the bother of frequent checking.

J. P. McEvoy in sending one of his autographed books to this writer inscribes it with: "To a country boy who had to come to the city to make good in the country."

A scholarly critic, winding up a tirade against the theater, cries: "Nec tecuni possum vivere, nec sine te!"

Thereby taking the words right out of our mouth!
